

As soon as I came to the seashore I was surprised to see that I had taken up my lot on the worst side of the island, for here indeed the shore was covered with innumerable turtle, whereas on the other side I had found but three in a year and a half. Here was also an infinite number of fowls of many kinds, some which I had seen, and some which I had not seen before, and many of them very good meat, but such as I knew not the names of except those called penguins.

I travelled along the shore of the sea towards the east, I suppose about -twelve miles, and then setting up^ a great pole upon the shore for a mark, I concluded I would go home again; and that the next journey I took should be on the other side of the island, east from my dwelling, and so round till I came to my post again.
